TOWN AMENDS ORDINANCE ON TEST HOLE FEE

An ordinance which provided that the Manufacturers Light and Heat company pay the borough $1 for each test hole drilled in a street was amended by the borough council at a special meeting at the fire engine house Monday night to give the gas company the option of repairing the streets after the drilling of holes, without payment of the $1-per-hole fee, or have the borough highway department fill the holes and pay the $1.

Council also adopted ordinances ordaining a new street and two alleys, all in the west end of the borough over land deeded by Herbert G. Hamme and Russell Staley. The street will extend south from West Middle street, west of Ridge avenue, and the alleys will connect back of these properties.

Council voted to name the new street South Hay street extended. The alleys will be known as Shealer alley and Hamme alley.

Survey Town For Leaks
Julian Estep, local manager of the gas company, outlined a program his company is undertaking to detect leaks, both in gas mains in the streets and in the service lines to houses. He said that Gettysburg is one of the oldest gas cities in the United States, with some of its lines laid as far back as 1870. A thorough test of all lines is to be made, he said, to determine leaks and repair them.

A test hole will be sunk and instruments used to detect leaks. The entire town will be covered, and he said approximately 50 test holes will be drilled per block. Each hole will be from an inch to an inch and a quarter in diameter, and will be sunk about two feet.

Special $2 Permits
Mr. Estep said that similar work had been done in 21 other cities in this district, and the gas company itself had filled the holes. The work here is expected to take about a month. Where leaks are found the gas company will pay the regular digging permit, and dig up the (Continued on Page 6)

Detroit-St. Louis passenger train. The collision occurred about 10 p.m. (EST).

State police said crew members of both trains reported they had green "go-ahead" signals just before the collision.

Trooper Bob Portner said the passenger train engineer, Gordon Bonney, 44, Peru, Ind., told him his train was traveling 10 to 15 miles an hour with a green light when his fireman, Edwin Richardson, 37, McClure, O., shouted:

SAFETY TALK FOR ROTARIANS BY PVT. TAPPE

Safety measures to prevent accidents on the highways were outlined in talk and picture by state policemen at Monday evening's meeting of Rotary at the YWCA.

Pvt. Joseph A. Tappe, of the York sub-station termed speed as the factor most responsible for accidents, adding "by speed we don't necessarily mean traveling in excess of 50 miles an hour, but speed in relation to the situation at the moment, the idea that is expressed in the phrase 'traveling too fast for conditions.'"

"There are times when 50 miles an hour is a safe and reasonable speed. There can be conditions under which 20 miles an hour would be an unsafe and unreasonable speed."

"Our troubles with high speed generally come from our attitude toward driving. We want to see what our car can do, so we let it out to 60, 70, 80 miles an hour if we think there are no police around. We have based our standard for car performance on speed and we have caused hundreds of deaths because of that fact."

A motion picture, "And Then There Were Four," depicting five families starting out by car in the morning and only four returning safely, was shown by Pvt. Edward Gallagher of the Harrisburg office of the state police. The picture pointed (Continued on Page 7)

"Semper Fidelis"

(Always Faithful)

Cincinnati, July 17 (AP)—A tight-lipped marine stood silently by a flag-draped casket here yesterday and kept a final rendezvous with his buddy.

The two left college back in 1917 to fight in World War I. They trained together at Quantico, Va., and went into battle together in France. Side by side the pair fought their way to command of adjoining companies in the Marine Fifth Regiment.

One, Captain Jack West, was reported killed in an attack shortly after the bloody fighting at Belleau Wood in 1918. But his friend, also a captain, crawled into no-man's land with two corpsmen and found West, his skull shattered but still alive.

The two captains separated, West's fighting days being over. West returned to Cincinnati to become a leading figure in the insurance business. But wherever they were, a telegram or cable from one would bring them together again. They met in Shanghai, in Washington, or at a quiet trout stream.

A few weeks ago West's car slid off the road in a violent thunderstorm. He suffered a broken pelvis. Then complications set in and West died Thursday.

Yesterday, his buddy attended the final rites for Jack West at Spring Grove cemetery. Then ex-Captain Clifton B. Bates, now a four-star general in command of the United States Marine Corps, turned and walked slowly away.

Communists Raise New Point To Further Stall Agreement On Cease Fire Order In Korea

"2ND PENTAGON" SEEKS ADEQUATE WATER SUPPLY

A persistent rumor that Army engineers have been surveying the Fairfield-Waynesboro areas to determine the location of a new air field to serve the "second Pentagon" now being constructed at Camp Ritchie was scotched in a letter received recently by Representative James F. Lind from Col. Alan J. McCutchen, district engineer of the Corps of Engineers.

It's not an airfield site the engineers are seeking, Colonel McCutchen had advised the district congressman, but an adequate water supply for the communications hub which is being constructed in the Fountaineau-Camp Ritchie area.

A portion of the text of the colonel's letter:

"The Department of the Army is currently making a survey to locate an adequate water supply for the communications hub which is being constructed in the Fountaineau area, and to this end several test wells are being drilled between Fountaineau and Fairfield. Drilling is not started, of course, until the owner of the land has been advised of the operation and has given his permission that the work be done."

"In event a satisfactory flow of water can be obtained, it is planned to negotiate with the owners of the land for the purchase of small well sites, together with rights-of-way for the construction, operation and maintenance of the necessary pipe lines. It is anticipated that only two or three wells will be required to furnish an adequate supply of water."

"The Washington district is not conducting a survey to determine the location of a new air field in the vicinity of Fairfield and Waynesboro. It is considered possible, however, that local residents have misinterpreted the purpose of the test wells."

COL. HARRY KNOX AT CAMP PICKETT

Over 480 members of the 345th Engineer Combat Group arrived at Camp Pickett, Va., early Saturday evening for their two weeks' summer training program.

Under the command of Col. Harry Knox, Gettysburg, and Major Richard E. Baumunk, South Mountain, the organization is a reserve group from Chambersburg. It will take up its duties and quarters in the area recently vacated by the 311th Engineer Construction Group and "A" and "B" Companies of the 981st Engineer Construction Battalion.

Comprising the group are Headquarters Company of the 345th, the 458th Engineer Combat battalion of Washington, D. C.; the 491st Engineer Combat battalion of State College, Pa.; the 372nd Engineer Panel Bridge company of Pottsville, Pa., and the 416th Engineer Panel Bridge company of Richmond, Va.

Reorganized in 1947, the 345th was originally the 1153rd Engineer Combat group and fought under that emblem in World War II. This is its first trip to Camp Pickett. The organization formerly trained at Port Belvoir, Va., and Indianhead Gap, Pa.

At the latter base it worked in conjunction with the 79th Division, the Pennsylvania National Guard outfit that recently completed summer training on this post.

The board tentatively approved a program calling for the asking of bids for construction either in August or early September and for the sale of bonds for the construction in September. The present plans call for the asking and opening of bids first and the offering of the bonds for sale immediately upon acceptance of a bid for the work.

Vice Chairman Ralph Z. Oyer presided at the meeting.

COURT RULES AGAINST W. MD. IN ACTION HERE

Preliminary objections of the Western Maryland railway company to the action in trespass brought by Walter F. Shenberger, York, were dismissed by the county court in an opinion handed down as of Saturday by Judge W. C. Sheely.

The opinion was in response to argument by the Western Maryland that since a suit had been brought by Shenberger against the railway in York county previously in connection with an accident March 1, 1949, at Spring Grove, that a similar action could not be brought in Adams county court.

The York county action ended with a compulsory non-suit entered following a trial in the case. Shenberger claims he should receive damages for injuries suffered when a train struck a Bush Express truck operated by him at the P. H. Glatfelter plant in Spring Grove.

20 Days To Answer

In its argument the railway company held that the York county action was still pending and as a result no action on the same matter could be brought in Adams county court. The local jurist held that failure of Shenberger to file a motion to take off the non-suit in York county together with withdrawal of a motion for completion of the record, amounted to the abandonment of that action.

After dismissing the railway's objections, the county court said that the railway may, within 20 days, file "an answer on the merits if it so desires."

Secret Service Is On Permanent Status

Washington, July 17 (AP)—It took 86 years, but the U. S. Secret Service has, finally achieved permanent status.

President Truman yesterday signed a bill which puts the agency responsible for his safety on the roster of regular government bureaus. It has existed throughout its long history on a year-to-year basis, needing annual authorization from Congress.

Besides guarding the President, the Secret Service is the government's anti-counterfeiting policeman. It also has other law enforcement activities connected with the Treasury, its parent organization.

State Police Say

By teaching safe habits and setting examples of safety, parents can and they have a responsibility to prepare their children against hazards in walking, cycling and in later years driving an automobile.

MAY ENTER 4-H AWARD CONTEST

The possibility of taking part in an "efficient production award contest" for 4-H Dairy clubs throughout the state was discussed Monday evening at a meeting of the county dairy club at a meeting held at the home of Wade Brown, Littlestown R. 1.

Public interest is mounting in the Adams County Union Evangelistic Crusade. The two-week campaign began Sunday in the Great Congregational Presbyterian church at Hunt-erstown with services every night at 8 o'clock. Through letters, phone calls, attendance and promises of support, pastors or members of many county churches have shown their interest in the crusade.

Tonight the evangelist will speak on "The Truth About Hell from a Man Who Was There." A solo will be sung by John Korver, of New Oxford, a ministerial student at Central college, of Tella, Iowa. The two daughters of the evangelist will sing a duet. Rosemary Crees, who is also pianist for the campaign, is a student at Bryan university, of Dayton, Tenn. Dorothy Crees has finished her junior year as a student in Gettysburg high school.

The subject of Rev. Crees for Friday night is "The Atom Bomb and the Destruction of the World." That night the young people's chorus and girls' trio from the Gettysburg Four-square church will provide the special music. Thursday the subject is "Saints at the Cross," with Rev. Lavere Rohrbach, of Biglerville EUB. church leading the singing, and solo numbers by Mrs. Rohrbach. Wednesday night the sermon theme will be, "How Good Must One Be to Go to Heaven?" Special music will be furnished by Mrs. Edward Clark, of Chambersburg.

WALCOTT GETS TITLE CHANCE ON WEDNESDAY

By TED SMITHS

Pittsburgh, July 17 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, the 37-year-old heavy-weight challenger who claims he was robbed in two of his previous attempts to wrest the title from Edward Charles and Joe Louis, gets his fifth and probably last chance tomorrow night.

A confident Walcott meets Charles for the third time at Forbes Field (9 p.m., eastern standard time). He says he should have won the decision in one of his previous meetings with the champion—and he's equally certain he was victimized in his first fight with Louis.

Louis, who is slated to meet the winner, will be at the ringside.

Charles is the 1 to 4 favorite with virtually no betting. Already more than $100,000 in tickets have been sold and the gate may reach an amazing $200,000.

Buy TV Rights

In order to end the blackout on big fights, television manufacturers have purchased TV rights for an additional $100,000 and will put the match on the national network, with only Pittsburgh and Johnstown, Pa., shut out. CBS will carry the fight on radio.

"This is it," says Jersey Joe. "Either he goes or I go. I know I can't ever get another chance."

The 30-year-old Charles weighs 183 to Walcott's 194.

Jake Mintz, Charles' manager, shares Walcott's view that it is now or never. "Walcott will probably throw a few apple-bombs. It may turn out to be sensational. Charles loves that title very dearly," says Jake. (Mintz likes to be cute with words, accounting for "apple-bombs" instead of "atom-bombs.")

Expect Early Drive

"If Walcott starts changing his style he'll get knocked out," says Ray Arcel, Charles' astute trainer. "But after a guy has been fighting all those years, what can he do?"

Everyone in Charles' camp figures Walcott will make a supreme effort in the early rounds. If the fight drags on, Charles' youth will count heavily.

Charles is in fine condition. He wound up training yesterday with three brisk sparring rounds and then some calisthenics that were sheer contortion. Walcott finished his hard work Sunday. He took only exercises yesterday.

Charles gets 40 per cent of the gate, and Walcott 20 per cent. Counting television, and minus taxes it could amount to $80,000 and $40,000 respectively.

Eagles Meet Kiwanis Here On Wednesday

An important game faces the Gettysburg Eagles baseball team Wednesday evening when the second-place Hanover Kiwanis nine comes here for a Mason-Dixon Junior Baseball league game. The tilt will be at 6 o'clock on the Recreation park diamond.

Coach "Muff" Oyler is undecided as to who will pitch for his Eagle outfit. The Kiwanis, last year's league champs, defeated Brushtown on the latter's field Monday evening.

The Hanover Legion will play at Littlestown in another league game.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

The Wilmington Blue Rocks salvaged the finale of their three-game series with the Interstate league-leading Hagerstown Braves last night, eking out a 7 to 6 victory.

It was a ding-dong battle throughout, with managers of both teams shifting the lineups frequently in the hope of winning the decisive advantage.

The Braves were out of it from the sixth inning when they scored their last two runs. They loaded the bases in both the eighth and ninth innings, but could not come through with either a hit or a long fly ball to push across the tying run.

Niles Jordan was the winning pitcher. Lou Tufano, Braves center-fielder, homered with one man on base.

Sunbury's usually booming bats were just so many futile fumble sticks as Lancaster's little Dale Steen tamed the Giants on four hits for a thumping 13 to 0 whitewash. Steen breezed to his triumph while his mates were making it a romp with 15 safeties.

The Harrisburg Senators hammered Bob Bills for five runs in the third inning, dumping the Allentown Cardinals 9 to 6. Jim Freeman, Harrisburg starter, got credit for the win, although he had to have help from Bob Smith and Howard Rodemeyer.

Pitcher Jack Kirk forced home the winning run for the Salisbury Athletics, who edged York's White Roses 4 to 3.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 17 (AP)—An "upset" in tennis used to be when the No. 2 player accidentally beat the No. 1 man. Form was so accurate that it wasn't a question of who would win but how. . . . Now look what happens. . . . Dick Savitt, the lad who stepped out of college and obscurity into the top flight last summer, won the Australian and Wimbledon titles. . . . On top of that young Tony Trabert knocked off National Champion Arthur Larsen in the clay courts final and Vic Seixas trimmed veterans Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert in successive matches at Spring Lake.

It's understandable once you've seen it happen because all three were recognized as very promising players whose development was delayed by the requirements of education. . . . Trabert, a 20-year-old basketball-playing sophomore at the U. of Cincinnati, still may have a long way to go.

Savitt and Seixas came along fast when they found time to concentrate on tennis, and Vic says he'll probably retire after this season to attend to his heating and plumbing supply business. . . . But the old rule still holds: If you want your boy to be a tennis champ, don't let him waste time on school.

BLIND LEADING BLIND TOM

They staged a "Be-Kind-to-Umpires" Week in Spokane, Wash., last week and the umpires they selected, Mickey Hanich and Joe Iacovetti, had a wonderful time. . . . They were made commodores in the Coeur d'Alene Lake Navy; they had breakfast in bed and even private floor shows prior to the games. . . . As a grand climax they drove to the field in a brand new convertible donated by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, wheeled into the parking lot, ran smack into the ball park incinerator behind the stands and crushed it to smithereens. . . . The cop in the lot, naturally hollered: "Hey, can't you see anything?"

Farm Hands Scarce: Numerous reports come from the farmers throughout the county to the effect that farm hands are scarce. In Cumberland county the farmers are offering $2.00 to $2.50 per day and are unable to secure help at these figures.

We would suppose that from the

that they are not in hearty accord with agricultural labor and that work in the harvest field is not a congenial occupation for them to indulge in.

Trolley Left The Tracks: Sunday afternoon one of the trolley cars, motored by Gervus W. Myers and conducted by John Thomas, was derailed by the track spreading as it was rounding the curve prior to ascending the heavy grade at Little Round Top. The car left the track entirely, the front end being forced over the eastern embankment, and it was a miracle that it did not upset. Fortunately there were but two passengers in the car and no one was hurt.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
BE A DREAMER

If a list of all the successful dreamers were to be compiled that list would continue the names of about all the progressive and well-known names of today and yesterday. Such names, for example, as the Wrights, Ford, Westinghouse, Marconi, Bell, Edison, Fulton and George Stephenson. All dreamers—whose dreams came true.

In my comparatively short lifetime I can easily recall when people scoffed at a "horseless" carriage, and to mention that people would sometime travel around the globe in a ship in the sky was unthinkable, as well as the suggestion that you could talk to a person through the air across the ocean or to any point on the earth's globe, without any wires. It wasn't so very long ago when television stores were laughed at, as another visionary project. What next?

The fact is that anyone who wants to get anywhere must be a dreamer! He must have vision, with eyes in his mind that see afar.

It was but a few years ago that that idea of frozen foods was a mere experiment. And a man dreamed of a new idea for automobiles — an automatic shift of gears. Now, in a short time all cars will be thus equipped. It once was just a dream — and there were those who scoffed at it. But dreamers don't mind the scoffers and doubters. They don't count with them.

I recall when the late E. H. Harriman, railroad builder, decided that a bridge across the great Salt Lake, in Utah, would be a good thing and save much mileage. But his engineers kept coming to him and telling him that such a bridge could not be built. But Harriman dreamed that it could be done, so he told his engineers to go ahead and build it.
And they did. I did some thinking the first time that I rode across that bridge, years later.

You have to be a dreamer to get anywhere. All who have achieved anything notable have been dreamers. To get a thing done you first must see it as already done! Be a dreamer. That will mean that you will be a doer.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Don't Let Go!"

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

TALK TO YOUTH
Some deal in doubts and fears
Young people to frighten,
As if throughout the years
The wrong will master right.
They cry: "Our age has made
The world a sorry place.
Odds of which we're afraid,
We leave to you to face."

Fear of the future? Why?
And of our youth such doubt.
Trustful of them am I
To work their problems out.
They'll blunder as have we,
But also they'll succeed.
When courage has to be,
They will supply the need.

What if we said in truth,
The world is now complete.
Never again will youth Know victory or defeat.
We've solved the problems all.
Nothing is left to do.
Henceforth till death shall call Life holds no dreams for you?

'Tis true that we have gone
Blundering our way along.
But, you who follow on
Can right what now is wrong.
Can struggle to achieve;
Do what we've failed to do.
Bright youth, the world we leave
Needs every one of you.

Alcohol Studies School Is Opened

Huntingdon, Pa., July 17 (AP)—The seventh annual Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies opened here Monday with some 92 Keystone residents from all walks of life registered for the five-day course.

Dr. George F. Dunkelberger, of Selinsgrove, school director, said the program this year will seek to make known new discoveries about beverage alcohol and ways of dealing with the alcohol problem.

Among those enrolled are school teachers, ministers, temperance workers, social workers, secretaries, physicians and nurses.

Dr. Dunkelberger, professor emer-

Farce Comedy Opens At Allenberry Monday

The farce comedy, "George Washington Slept Here," by George S.
Kaufman and Moss Hart, opened Monday evening at the Allenberry Playhouse, Bolling Springs, for a week's run.

The large cast of 16 kept the audience highly entertained with Ralph Boyles and Brett Somers playing the roles of the nature-struck city man and his acid-tongued wife. The story concerns the events that follow the purchase of a dilapidated shack in the country by the city couple under the delusion that the Father of Our Country once slept there. Counter-plots add to the hi-larities of the entertainment. Such familiar Allenberry figures as David Brubaker, Hazen Gifford and Robert Gibbons have prominent roles.

ANNUAL PICNIC HELD BY CLASS

The annual picnic for the members of the Tuck-a-Bache Sunday school class of St. John's Lutheran church and their families, was held Sunday afternoon at the church, with approximately 80 in attendance. Games were held for the group on the church lawn, but due to the threatening weather the picnic lunch was enjoyed in the church basement. A musical program was presented as arranged by the committee in charge composed of Mrs. Joseph Selby, Mrs. Paul E. King, Mrs.
Alvin G. Groft and Mrs. William Lippy. A solo, "On Top of Old Smoky," was played on the Hawaiian guitar by Clyde Brumgard, followed with two vocal selections, "Mocking Bird Hill" and "The Desert Song," Sigmund Romberg, by Gary Strevig, accompanied on the piano by Miss Evelyn Harget. A piano solo, "The Christian Army," was played by Miss Nancy Trump. The men present sang "The Old Rugged Cross," led by Gary Strevig and accompanied by Miss Harget. The women sang the class song, "Win Them One by One" with Miss Harget as accompanist, who also accompanied for the group singing which followed. Miss Brenda Hess and Miss Harget sang a duet, "O Gentle Saviour," with Mrs. Malcolm Hess at the piano. The pastor, the Rev.
Kenneth D. James, is the class teacher.

It has been announced that Patsy Crouse and Stewart Long, well known vocalists throughout the community, will entertain during a portion of the second annual Littlestown Music Festival to be held on Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock on Littlestown Memorial field. Mrs.
Crouse has made a television appearance and both she and Mr. Long have been featured many times over the radio. The musical on Sunday is being sponsored by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The annual picnic for the public, sponsored by the Sunday school of

MILTON BERLE'S DIVORCED WIFE TRIES SUICIDE

New York, July 17 (AP)—Blonde Joyce Mathews, twice-divorced wife of comedian Milton Berle, slashed her wrists with a razor blade Sunday in a suicide attempt in showman Billy Rose's luxurious midtown apartment.

Police, called by Rose to the apartment atop the Ziegfeld theater, forced a locked metal door to a bathroom in which the 31-year-old beauty had locked herself. They found her bleeding and unconscious on the floor.

Monday, Saul Richman, the actress' special manager, said that her condition was good and that she would leave Roosevelt hospital "sometime this morning."

Confers With Rose

Richman said that Miss Mathews visited Rose to discuss television work and newspaper reports linking her name with the showman. She was afraid the reports might jeopardize her career and possibly cost the custody of her young daughter, he said.

When police reached the apartment, Rose pleaded, "Hurry, see if you can save her. She tried to commit suicide."

"Did she try to jump?" a policeman asked.

"No, she cut her wrists," said Rose.

One policeman quoted Rose as saying, "I told her something. Then she ran into the bathroom, saying: 'I'm going to cut my wrists.'"

The showman, police said, declined to say what he had told his blonde visitor.

Police applied tourniquets to Miss Mathews' gashed wrists after forcing their way into the bathroom. Regaining consciousness, she objected to going to a hospital, saying that she wanted "no publicity."

Walks To Ambulance

But she was ordered to go and walked to the waiting ambulance. While Miss Mathews was being revived, the 50-year-old Rose remarked to a policeman, "Now is the time to have a wife. I'm going to call Eleanor now."

His wife, former swim star Eleanor Holm, arrived at the apartment an hour later. She presumably had been staying in the couple's suburban home in neighboring Westchester county. She brushed past newsmen without speaking and rushed up to the apartment. At the hospital, the actress told police there was no "romantic tieup between Billy Rose and myself. Nothing romantic at all."

Berle, who returned from a European vacation Saturday, said his ex-wife in the hospital room last night.

Police Chief Can't Find Any Gambling

Reading, Pa., July 17 (AP)—Police Chief William P. Birney has been unable to uncover any sign of illegal gambling in Reading.

In a written report submitted yesterday to Mayor John F. Davis, Birney declared his men did not find "any trace" of numbers writers or race handbook operators in the city.

The Mayor declined to make public the full report but explained Birney had been directed to investigate rumors that numbers writers and race handbook operators were active in the city.

Davis emphasized that the submission of the report would not mean an end to the police check of gambling.

The U. S. Senate crime committee recently conducted an inquiry into alleged interstate gambling in the Reading-Berks county area.

Captured Chinaman Has U. S. Bronze Star

Tokyo, July 17 (AP)—A Florida sergeant's lost Bronze Star medal has turned up safely—in the hands of a captured Chinese Red.

SFC George Pitts, 3802 Highland avenue, Tampa, won the medal in World War II and brought it to Korea.

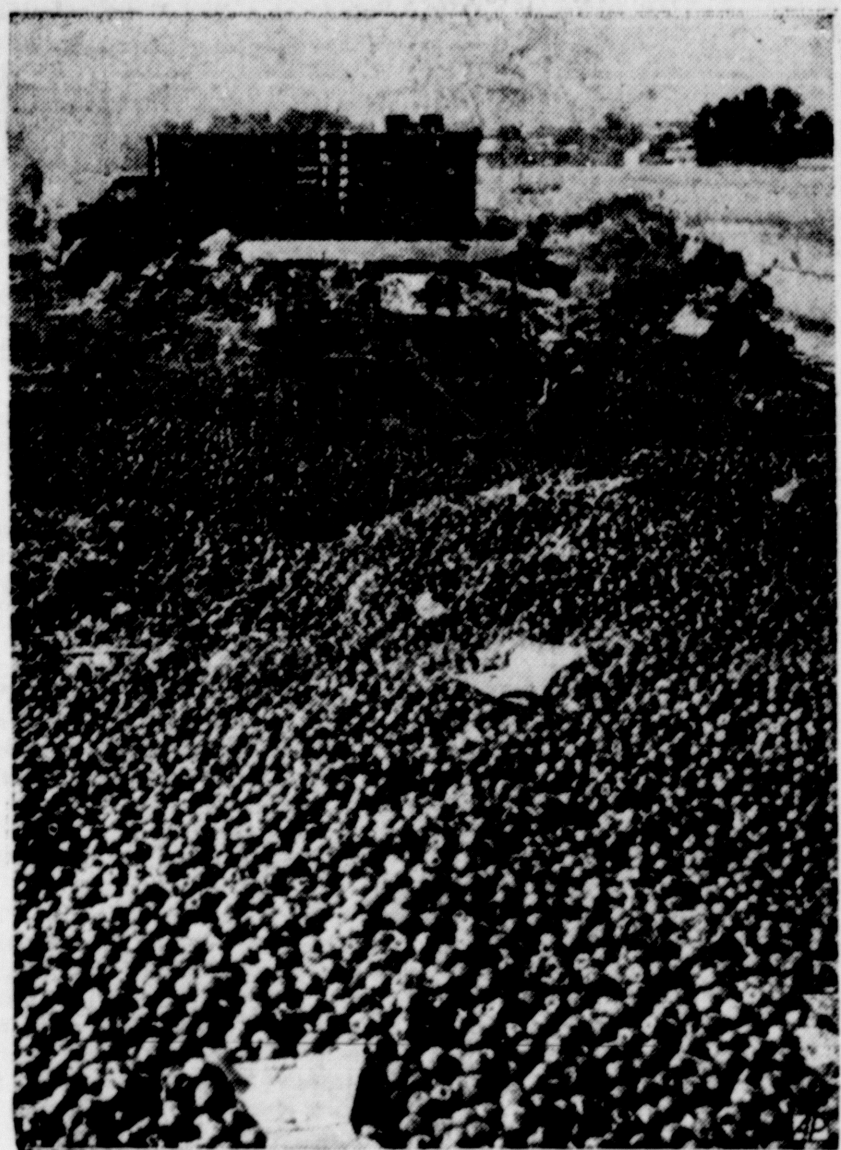

He lost it last December at the Changjin reservoir, deep inside North Korea.

"It's the same one, all right," Pitts exclaimed after being shown the medal taken from a captured Red.

The Blessed Sacrament will remain exposed for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the church where persons will come for private prayer. Masses Monday and Tuesday will be at the church at 7 a.m. and evening devotions concluding with Benediction, on Sunday and Monday at 7 p.m. The Solemn Closing will be on Tuesday evening, also at 7 o'clock, with clergy from nearby parishes participating.

made at Peach Glen. From there the party went to the Blue Ribbon orchards of the C. H. Musselman company, and then to the Orttanna processing plant of the Knouse cooperative.

The Ohio fruit growers were guests at the Hotel Gettysburg for dinner Monday evening and overnight, and this morning left shortly after 8 o'clock for a tour of the battlefield, after which they left for Martinsburg.

In their tour of Adams county orchards, the growers were impressed, according to C. W. Ellenwood, who was in charge of the party, by the many young orchards set out recently. "It re-establishes your faith in the orchard business," Mr. Ellenwood said.

Mr. Ellenwood is associated with the state experiment station at Wooster, Ohio, and is secretary of the state horticultural society. Accompanying the party also was Estel Jackson, president of the society, of Jackson, Ohio.

Herculean Cleanup Task Is Begun In Kansas City Area

Kansas City, Mo., July 17 (AP)—The battered Kansas City area mobilized today for a Herculean cleanup task as flood waters, swirling eastward, struck new blows at Missouri river towns.

Receding flood waters in this metropolitan area of 900,000 left block after block of muck-covered ruin.

And in Kansas, a line of wrecked or partially damaged towns and cities stretched across the eastern and central parts of the state.

The latest damage estimate for Kansas and Missouri is $750,000,000—the nation's costliest flood.

Waters Receding

Water still covered many sections but it was fast slipping back into river channels here and in Kansas.

But to the east of Kansas City, small towns along the Missouri felt the full force of the turbulent river. Lexington, Wellington, Norborne and Hardin, Mo., were flooded. Some dikes in central Missouri gave way.

The runoff of Kansas flood waters also buffeted Oklahoma. Miami, in northeastern Oklahoma, suffered its worst flood beating in history from the Neosho-Grand river.

High water poured over 130 to 150 blocks of the town of 12,000, forcing approximately 3,500 persons from their homes.

Destructive Fire

President Truman, reported deeply concerned over the flood situation, planned to fly over the Missouri-Kansas disaster area today. He was scheduled to make a brief stop at Independence, Mo., his home town and fly back to Washington tonight.

The flood has brought death to 17 persons, tied up highway and rail transportation, forced more than 70,000 from their homes and severely damaged the industrial capacity of numerous towns and cities.

In Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., four major industrial areas covering thousands of acres were flooded. Water during the height of the flood stood more than 20 feet deep in some places.

A five-day-old fire that ravaged a seven-block area and injured 14 firemen was left to burn itself out. Fire Chief Harvey Baldwin called it the most destructive Kansas City fire in more than 30 years.

Weeks for Recovery

The fire destroyed or damaged 24 major firms. Preliminary estimates indicated damage would run well over $1,000,000.

The flames were fed by oil and gasoline floating on flood waters. Receding waters left scenes of desolation. Houses standing on end, lying on their sides or tilted at weird angles. Porches hung on the tops of light poles, bedding on utility wires.

It will be weeks before wrecked gas lines, broken water mains and telephone and light circuits can be repaired.

MAY BAR RELIEF TO ABLE-BODIED

Harrisburg, July 17 (AP)—A bill banning public assistance payments to able-bodied persons between 18 and 45 years of age headed toward final passage in the Senate today.

A clarifying amendment was added to the measure last night tying in the ban on relief payments with unemployment figures of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

The bill, sponsored by Sens. Fred P. Hare (R-Somerset) and A. Evans Kephart (R-Phila.), would eliminate such payments to able-bodied persons whenever unemployment figures in the nation go below 3-000,000.

Hare said passage was held up to insure that this clause in the bill indicated national unemployment, and not state unemployment figures. A similar bill was introduced in the House yesterday by Rep. William McMillen (R-Indiana). Both Senate and House sponsors agreed that elimination of relief checks to the able-bodied would result in the saving of millions of dollars for the Commonwealth.

Hare told a reporter that mere introduction of the bill in the Senate had "scared 1,200 persons off the relief rolls in Philadelphia alone." He and McMillen said the main purpose of the bill is to get persons on relief to move to areas where there are jobs.

INCOME TAX COMPROMISE TALKS FAIL

Harrisburg, July 17 (AP)—Negotiations between Senate and House Republicans to work out a tax compromise broke down completely last night with abandonment of a special committee set up three weeks ago to break the deadlock.

Lawmakers then voted to absent themselves from Harrisburg next week for the July 24 primary election. The action assured an August session of the Legislature, first of its kind in Pennsylvania history since colonial days.

An air of discouragement pervaded the Legislature with members in both chambers reflecting on the long string of tax setbacks since Gov. John S. Fine first proposed the one-half of one per cent income levy last April.

Cool Reception
Senate Democrats offered to step into the GOP tax breach but the overtures were met coolly by Republicans.

"We are worse off now than we were several weeks ago," said Sen. James Berger (R-Potter).

But he had no comment at all on a proposal by Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, that Democrats be enlisted to help draft a substitute for the controversial income tax.

Dent told the Senate the 20-man Democratic minority in the Senate has a tax program that could be "sold to the people without being burdensome." He declined to elaborate on details on the program.

"Nobody Has The Answer"

"If the governor is sincere and he wants to sit down and discuss this problem with everyone, we will cooperate," said Dent. "This stalemate isn't doing anyone any good."

But the Democratic tax program, said another minority senator who asked that his name not be used, was "only in the feeler stage."

Sen. A. Evans Kephart (R-Phila.), chairman of the eight-man tax compromise committee dissolved by the GOP Senate caucus, expressed the frustration evident among his GOP colleagues. "We're simply not getting anywhere and nobody seems to have the answer," he said.

Kephart made the motion at a policy-making meeting of Republican senators to end, at least for the present, the work of the committee in setting up a compromise.

The income levy, passed by the House by a narrow margin, is in the Senate Finance committee. It was assigned there after 12 GOP senators refused to support it.

Democrats Stand Pat

A parade of alternative tax suggestions has been reviewed since then. They include revival of the soft drinks tax, a new tax on smoking and chewing tobacco, increases in liquor, beer and inheritance tax and a new tax on electric bills. "But when each proposal came up," Berger said, "the senators would stand up and say, 'I will vote for it if everybody else does.' There was nobody to take the lead and that's what we needed."

Meanwhile, Democrats insist the governor has enough tax money to finance his $1,220,000,000 without new taxes.

Any of its tax proposals, Dent said, would be earmarked for specific items whose costs are not included in the budget. The teacher salary increase bill, calling for expenditure of $46,000,000 above budget estimates, would be in that category, he added.

To date, the Legislature has reenacted all previous taxes except the soft drinks tax. In addition, it has increased the four per cent corporate net income tax to five per cent to produce an additional $44,000,000 in the next two years.

street to repair the leaks.

If no leaks are found, the holes will be filled immediately, Mr. Estep said. Should the gas company do it, a crew will follow the test crew, place stone ballast in the hole and cap it with six inches of concrete.

Where there are no curb boxes where services lines enter private property, it will be necessary to drill test holes in sidewalks and yards, Mr. Estep said.

The amended ordinance provides that the gas company obtain a permit for each city block, at $2 per permit, not good for more than 30 days, unless an extension is obtained.

No action was taken on a letter from the Retail Merchants association, which on July 2 asked borough council for the removal of one parking meter in front of the new information booth in Lincoln Square for tourists who visit the booth. The new request, read Monday night, asks for two parking spaces. Council tabled it until its next regular meeting on August 6.

LIQUOR LAWS UP FOR CHANGE

Harrisburg, July 17 (AP)—A series of bills making broad changes in Pennsylvania's liquor control law came up for a vote in the House today.

The package would include the relaxing of closing hours for hotels and restaurants and allow the sale of bottled liquor by taprooms after state stores close at night.

The bills were brought into position for a final House vote after supporters last night beat down a series of attempted amendments.

The measures reportedly have the approval of both temperance and liquor interests.

They would: Allow the Liquor Control board to insert a handling charge on the sales price of alcoholic beverages; remove the rule that the state tax stamp must be carried on bottles of wine; put quotas on the number of wholesale beer distributors in a community; make the serving of food optional in both hotels and restaurants with liquor licenses; provide for local option voting on wholesale distributors licenses and on state stores in areas where voters have voted dry. In case of a tie the status quo remains unchanged; allow licensees to appeal to county courts from Liquor Control board rulings; prohibit the Sunday sales of beer and liquor in clubs; specifically prohibit the cashing of relief checks in licensed establishments and change residence requirements for brewery stockholders.

spected the bridge over the Tiber on Springs avenue, where repairs are under way, and will meet with a consulting engineer this afternoon to go over proposed plans for cleaning and repairing the Tiber.

MEETING OF THE AGES—The world's first jet flying boat fighter plane, the Saunders-Roe A-1, is towed up the Thames toward London's ancient Tower Bridge after a test flight.

Baltimore, July 17 (AP)—State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro said last night as far as he knows there are no "baby farms" in this area and that he intends to discuss the matter with New York city officials.

Charles P. Sullivan, New York's Queens county district attorney, has disclosed a New York investigation showed the adoption racket has been operating in Baltimore, Lynn, Mass., and Miami, Fla. The so-called baby farms treat unwed expectant mothers and sell their infants for adoption.

President William McKinley's last words, after being shot by an anarchist terrorist, were "It is God's way. His will, not ours, be done."

The U.S. cotton textile industry is surpassed only by that of the United Kingdom.

PRISON BREAK ATTEMPT FAILS; 2 GUARDS SHOT

Canon City, Colo., July 17 (AP) -

Five subdued convicts stirred restlessly in barren, solitary cells today while officials probed their bloody attempt to free 10 dangerous criminals from the Colorado state prison.

Two guards were wounded, neither seriously, in the fighting that broke out yesterday when the five convicts, brandishing knives and a revolver, tried to spring 10 prisoners from isolation cells. The 10 included incorrigibles placed in solitary for bad behavior.

Heavily-armed guards trapped the five convicts in a cellhouse and quelled them with a torrent of tear gas.

Hold Guards As Hostages

The prisoners held five guards as hostages for a short time during the 45 minute uprising. Warden Roy Best said the escape plot was planned by Harold Hathaway, Pueblo, Colo., robber with a long record of prison rebellion. He is among the 10 in the isolation cells.

Chet Yeo, a captain of the guards, was shot in the back after breaking loose from the convicts. He was wounded twice before in previous breaks at the prison. Guard Amos Murley suffered arm and leg wounds from a ricocheting bullet later while the trapped convicts exchanged gunfire with guards.

The prison, housing 1,259 convicts, is 120 miles southwest of Denver.

work should be 12 years of age or over, the growers said. Transportation is provided to most orchards.

The Musselman company and others provide buses to carry the workers to and from the orchards. Buses leave Lincoln Square here each morning at 6:30 o'clock and from most other communities in the county at various times during the morning.

The large crop provides the pickers with an excellent opportunity to make fairly large sums from their work, with some earning as high as $15 to $20 a day. Payment is made on a bucket basis with the amount of income per day depending on the skill and energy of the workers.

Some growers are granting an incentive pay of a few cents a bucket to those who remain with the orchard throughout the season. Expectations are that the current season will last about two weeks longer.

Those wishing to engage in the work can report to the orchards at any time, or board the buses when they leave in the morning, or check at the U. S. Employment office here.

As a special inducement some growers are serving chocolate milk and other iced drinks to their workers during the day.

ations could get underway only after completion of the agenda. The first five days of meetings were devoted to drafting the agenda. Each side submitted a list of subjects to be discussed.

Tuesday's sessions began at 11 a.m. (8 p.m. Monday, EST) in the red-tiled building that has been converted from an exclusive restaurant of prewar days to an armistice conference hall.

Delegates conferred for 55 minutes, then recessed for lunch until 2 p.m. The afternoon session lasted until 2:40.

From all outward appearances, negotiations went smoothly. But none of the ten negotiators would discuss what had happened as they emerged into the bright sunlight.

Weather Forecast

Extended forecast for the period, Wednesday, July 18, through Sunday, July 22:

Eastern Pennsylvania, eastern New York and mid-Atlantic states: Temperature will average a few degrees below normal; cooler south portion Wednesday, no major change until warmer Saturday and in south portion; showers likely Thursday and Sunday, and in extreme south portion on Wednesday.

20-Year Old Prince Baudouin Proclaimed King Of Belgians

Brussels, Belgium, July 17 (AP)—Twenty-year-old Baudouin I was formally proclaimed king of the Belgians today. He succeeds his father, Leopold III, who abdicated yesterday after an ill-fated reign of 17 years.

Standing erect in front of his red and gold throne in the national House of Representatives, the young monarch took the oath to uphold the constitution and assumed the royal powers.

Loud bursts of cheering and applause roared up from the assembly as the youthful king spoke.

Slowly and clearly, Baudouin said: "I swear to observe the constitution and the laws of the Belgian people; to maintain the national independence and integrity of the territory."

The new ruler took the oath in the khaki uniform of a lieutenant general, highest rank in the Belgian army. He wore only one decoration—the crimson sash of the Order of Leopold.

Outside cannons boomed, church bells pealed and thousands of Belgians cheered in the bright sunlight.

It all was in marked contrast to yesterday's brief, quiet ceremony at which Leopold signed his abdication papers before 250 persons in a royal palace ballroom.

Today thousands packed the hall, built to house 220 persons.

The 49-year-old Leopold gave up his throne yesterday still contending his surrender to the Germans in 1940 was only after the army had "fought valiantly to the extreme limit of its resistance."

His enemies held him of being pro-German and also condemned his wartime marriage to the beautiful commoner, Mary-Lilliane Baelis.

As the controversy threatened to split the country, Leopold returned to Belgium in July last year after a plebiscite showed 58 per cent of the voters wanted him. But he turned his powers over to Baudouin temporarily on August 1, after Socialist strikes and riots threatened a revolutionary march on Brussels.

Soldier Critical After 3-Floor Leap

New York, July 17 (AP)—A soldier who jumped yesterday from the 33rd floor of the Empire State building, but landed on an extension three floors below was reported in critical condition today at Bellevue hospital.

Police said that Pfc. John F. Transchese, 35, of 130 West 20th St., Bayonne, N. J., removed a ventilating panel in an office and jumped out. He gave no reason for his act.

His wife, Josie, visited him at Bellevue today.

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration says sex hormones distributed by two Los Angeles firms might bring on cancer in men and injure women's reproductive organs if used without medical supervision.

Following a federal court ban against interstate shipment and sale of chemicals, Dr. Edwin E. Nelson, medical director of the Food and Drug Administration, warned men particularly against doctoring themselves with male sex hormone tablets.

Harrisburg, July 17 (AP)—Penalties on convicted dope peddlers would be sharply increased under a bill in position for final passage in the Senate today. Already approved by the House, the measure would boost jail sentences all down the line for illegal sales or disposal of drugs.

Huntingdon, Pa., July 17 (AP)—Dr. Samuel B. Hadden, consulting psychiatrist at the Philadelphia General hospital, said today the alcoholic is regarded "as a sick person deserving of full study by the medical profession."

"His case is no different than that of other narcotic addicts," Dr. Hadden said in a lecture to the seventh annual Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies. "In informed circles," Dr. Hadden said, "alcohol is no longer spoken of as a stimulant. It is recognized as a highly toxic depressant and narcotic substance."
